

Home Care Provider Shortlist

The following companies offer domiciliary (at-home) care services that range from providing companionship and helping with domestic tasks such as gardening and preparing meals, through to help with activities of daily living such as washing and dressing, to 24 hour live-in care. The well-known term: 'you get what you pay for' is very fitting when it comes to care provision - the best providers will try to match your carer based on your interests and hobbies as well as your needs, and they work with you to amend the care that is needed over time. They will not tell or instruct you, and instead will create a care package to suit you and your wishes.

Regardless of whether you have made your decision about the type of support you need, a quick call to one or some of these providers to discuss your needs could prove to be really useful to give you an idea of cost and to enable you to more accurately compare all of your options. According to recent surveys conducted by the Money Advice Service and Laing Buisson, hourly charges for home care vary depending on the type of care you need as well as where you live, and can range between £15-£35 per hour, with live-in care starting at around £800 p/week.
